

Novisto Guest Post in ESG Today

Novisto's Marie-Josée Privyk and Anne Shiraishi published a guest post on ESG Today, a growing media for investors and companies dedicated to ESG news, analysis, and research. They discuss the key ways in which corporate ESG management will be digitally transformed. They also discuss how companies should be ready to define and invest in their ESG data management and reporting cultures—and the technologies that support them.

You can find the article on ESG Today here.

ABOUT NOVISTO

Novisto is end-to-end enterprise software for smarter corporate sustainability management, empowering companies to create value from their ESG strategy, data, and reporting. We help streamline every step of your sustainability management journey while helping you own your ESG narrative. Our purpose is to advance a more inclusive and resilient society by enabling organizations to create value through sustainability. Learn more at www.novisto.com.